II. Discussion

In January 2009, the Commission directed the staff to develop an internal protocol for interactions with Native American tribal governments¹ that allows for custom tailored approaches to address the interests of both the NRC and the tribal governments on a case-by-case basis.² On November 5, 2009, President Obama issued a Presidential ¹ For the purposes of this notice, the terms "Native American tribal governments" and "Native American tribes" are used interchangeably. In addition, these terms also include the term "Native Hawaiian organization," as that term is defined in 36 CFR 800.16(s)(1).

² Staff Requirements Memorandum, "Briefing on Uranium Recovery," M081211 (ML090080206) January 8, 2009.

Memorandum that reaffirmed Executive Order 13175, "Consultation and Coordination with Indian Tribal Governments," and emphasized the importance of strengthening government-to-government relationships with Native American tribes. In SECY-09-0180, "U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission Interaction with Native American Tribes," (ADAMS Accession No. ML092800263), dated December 11, 2009, NRC staff reviewed its various interactions with Native American tribes, and noted that these interactions were limited to a small number of activities under the NRC regulatory authority. At that time, staff concluded that a "case-by-case" approach had proven effective in interactions with Native American tribes by allowing for custom-tailored approaches that met Commission and tribal needs, and that no formal policy was needed. The NRC staff also noted that the internal guidance on tribal protocol would further enhance staff's engagement with Native American tribes. The internal NRC guidance, "Tribal Protocol Manual: Guidance for NRC Employees" was developed and issued in March 2010.

As described in enclosure 1 to SECY-09-0180, the NRC has consulted with several tribes, including some instances of government-to-government meetings, regarding various NRC regulatory and licensing activities. The subjects of these actions have included reactor inspections of the Prairie Island Nuclear Generating Plant (PINGP) in Welsh, Minnesota, the renewal of PINGP's operating license, the proposed Yucca Mountain high-level waste repository in Nevada, uranium milling operations in New Mexico and Arizona, the potential placement of a power reactor in Galena, Alaska, and the reclamation of the Sequoyah Fuels Corporation site in Gore, Oklahoma. Recently, a heightened interest in uranium recovery development and new nuclear reactor construction has resulted in a significant increase in the number and complexity of consultations between the NRC and Native American tribes in order to address the obligations and requirements of Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act (NHPA).

The NHPA was enacted in 1966 to coordinate and support public and private efforts to identify, evaluate, and protect historic properties. Section 106 of the NHPA directs Federal agencies to consider the effects of their proposed actions on historic properties as a part of their decision making process. Specifically, the regulations of the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation, which implement Section 106, set forth requirements for a Federal agency's consultation with Native American tribes.³

In light of these increased interactions with Native American tribes and to improve communication with tribal governments, the Commission, by Staff Requirements Memorandum (COMWDM-12-0001), "Tribal Consultation Policy Statement and Protocol," (ADAMS Accession No. ML121430233), dated May 22, 2012, directed the NRC staff to develop a proposed policy statement and protocol on consultation with Native American tribal governments. As a part of these efforts, the NRC staff identified minor revisions to the March 2010 "Tribal Protocol Manual: Guidance for NRC Employees," and produced the draft Tribal Protocol Manual, dated September 2012. The NRC staff recognizes that additional changes to improve the draft Tribal Protocol Manual may be needed and is thus seeking public comment on the document in order to consider a broad range of experiences and perspectives on tribal interactions, including consultation and government-to-government meetings. Therefore, the NRC is requesting comments on the draft Tribal Protocol Manual and the development of a proposed tribal consultation policy statement from tribal governments and organizations, the public, and other interested parties. The questions in section III are intended to assist the NRC in developing an effective tribal consultation policy statement.

III. Questions on the proposed policy statement

Tribal governments and organizations, the public, and other interested parties submitting comments are not limited to responding to the questions set forth below and are encouraged to submit any comments or other feedback they think would benefit the NRC in developing a tribal consultation policy statement.

- How can the NRC strengthen government-to-government relationships with Native American tribes?
- What practices have the NRC or other Federal agencies employed that have been effective in identifying tribal interests and resolving tribal concerns about proposed agency actions?
- Are there specific Tribal Policy Statements in other Federal agencies that could serve as
- a starting point for the NRC efforts?
- What unique tribal issues should the NRC be aware of as a non-landholding⁴, regulatory agency that issues licenses under the Atomic Energy Act?

Dated at Rockville, Maryland, this 4th day of October 2012.

For the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.
